

A "Turncoat."

(From the St. Louis Republic.)

It is said that the opprobrious epithet, turncoat, took rise from one of the first dukes of Savoy, whose dominions were open to the Contending powers of both Spain and France. Being subjected to frequent incursions of the rival powers, he was obliged to temporize and favor the powers alternately, as they seemed to be able or not to injure him. In order to carry out this arrangement to perfection he had a coat made that was blue on one side and white on the other, so that it could be worn indifferently with either side out.

When he was ostensibly on the side of Spain he wore the blue side out; when the French were to be propitiated he displayed the white side. He, therefore, became widely known as Emmanuel, the Turncoat, and was thus distinguished from other princes of his house bearing the same name. Since the time of Emmanuel the epithet has been applied to those who turn their opinions to suit the occasion or their own personal interests.

Solomonville Bulletin: "Cattle in San Simon valley are beginning to look very bad. Up to within two weeks ago they were in fair condition, but during that time a good many have died, and it is the country is not visited by a rain very soon a great many will be lost."

Flagstaff Champion: "Ransom Post No. 131 of St. Louis, Mo., presented to Ransom Post No. 4 of Flagstaff an elegant oil painting of General Ransom, which will in future occupy the position of honor in the G. A. R. hall. The post feels very much pleased with their present."

THE MARKETS.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The stock market today was the most featureless market for months and dealings present absolutely no occasion for comment. Speculators and even investors are still waiting upon Congressional action in the matter of the silver bill, and until some definite news is received stagnation is likely to be the characteristic of the day in stocks. The close was very dull but steady. There was no tendency in prices shown by final changes, which were irregular, but for small fractions only.

Petroleum opened strong with spot at 90c and July 91c. The market sagged off 1/2c and then became dull and remained so until the close.
